OBITUARY.

London, April 15. The death is announced of John Sargent, the eminent artist .-Reuter.

[John Singer Sargent, one of the most eminent portrait painters of his day, was born in 1856 at Florence, being the son of a Boston physician. He received his education in Italy and in France and studied under Carolus Dyran. He first exhibited at the Paris Salon in 1897 and since that date has continuously exhibited there and at the Royal Academy. His skill was rewarded in 1894 when he was elected an A. R. A. and three years later he was made a full Academician.

Prior to the war he was the most fashionable as well as one of the greatest and most daring portrait painters, but of late years. he chiefly painted landscapes. During the war he painted many English generals. His principal works are El Jaleo and the portraits of Duran, Ellen Terry, Joseph Chamberlain, Mrs. Carl Meyer and children, Octavia Hill, Lady Faudel Phillips and many others. He will be remembered as the painter also of a war picture. which aroused wide comment at the time it was hung at the Royal Academy, "Gassed."]

"TREADING ON TOES."

Paris, April 15. M. Briand, talking with friends, anticipated that M. Painleve would more readily find support than himself saying, "I made the mistake in my political career of treading on a few toes and naturally I met the owners of those does again. I was asked to wait until the National Socialist Council had decided its conditions for supporting me but I have an idea that when a rope is made to support a hanged man it is better not to be at the end of the rope." According to the Echo de Paris, which predicts that M. Painleve will agree to form a cabinet but that his Government will be ephemeral, the main obstacle to M. Briand's path was M. Herriot's hostility. The newspapers insist on a speedy solution to the crisis in national interests, the organs of the left party declaring that M. Painlave has no right to shirk the responsibility.-Reuter.

Paris, April 15. M. Painleve has received a delegation from the National Socialist Council which assured him the Council's support would be identical to that given to M. Herriot .- Reuter.

SOUTH AMERICAN PLOT FOILED. Bogota, Colombia, April 15.

While the President of the Republic of Colombia was supposedly absent from the capital, visiting various departments, a group of Army officers planned a coup detat and proposed to capture the palace and overthrow the Government. But the President returned suddenly and had the conspirators thrown into prison. Investigation was immediately begun to ascertain the ramifications of the plot,-Reuter's American Service.

[General Pedro Nel Ospina is the President of the Republic of Colombia, constituted as such in 1863. Its area is 440,846 square miles and a coast line on both the Caribbean Sea and the Pacific Ocean. Bogota, the capital has a population of 180,000.]

FRANCE AND BOXER INDEMNITY. Paris, April 15.

Le Journal expresses the opinion that the Chinese Government, to get the money needed by it, must increase its Customs duties tariff, but such an increase requires the agreement of all Powers, including France. Therefore the Chinese Government has decided to promise again to resume payment of Boxer Indemnity in gold. "Let us hope that promise be kept" Le Journal.-Havas.

"There is hope for the inveterate opium "smoker," says Dr. Aspland, "but practically none for the morphia ea.er." A much higher percentage of cures is recorded among the 12,000 addicts, in the "curing houses" in the Yennen district of Shansi, where opium alone is used, for instance, than among the 36,000 Tsining addicts who have been in "curing houses" during the year. These Governor is really trying to enforce the anti-opium laws. Governor Yen dealt with no fewer than figures, it must be remembered, represent the state of affairs in the one province in China where the 20,000 drug traffickers in the course of last year. Yet the complete rounding-up of these delinquents is impossible, as the Shansi branch of the Anti-Opium enters through mountain passes, from neighbouring provinces and morphia pills are dumped at railway

Opium Burning in Peking. At the end of the year, Dr. Aspland tells me he was present at a great burning of opium and morphia outside the Temple of Agriculture in Peking. This included 770 ounces of pure morphia, 1,107 parcels varying from a few ounces up to three pounds each, or morphia mixed with flour ready, for making into pills, and bags containing 280,000 chintan (morphia) pills, besides 250 ounces of broken pills. These represented the morphia seizures in Peking for the twelve months up to November BY MOST MODERN 30 last. And yet Dr. Aspland comments on this: "With the rigid enforcement of the antiopium laws, 1925 ought to witness burning at least fifty times larger." In the province of Chihli last year nearly three-quarters of a million (Chinese) dollars was raised from fines for selling morphia pills. The Association is pressing that this sum should be used for treating and curing, of drug addicts instead of as at present being allotted to the four Courts of Administration Chihli.

LOCAL FOOTBALL.

MINOR GAMES ON SATURDAY.

Although the football season has officially closed, an attempt is being made to complete the fixture ist, and two Second Division matches have been arranged for Saturday. They are as follows:-Surreys v. University-Chinese

China "A" v St. Joseph's "B"-St. Joseph's ground.

Both matches kick-off at three o'clock. Little real interest attaches to either game and in each case the first-mentioned club should win comfortably enough,

This evening the Club play off their postponed fixture with the Royal Artillery. Should they win they will supersede Kowloon in the table.

LIFELIKE FILM SCENES.

British Chemist's Great Discovery.

A young Loicestor chemist, who refuses to allow his name to be published, has invented, after three years of experiment, a stereoscopic film device which may turn out to be the process for which the whole cinoma world is waiting.

'His resources are modest, and the first fifty foot of film, taken with home-made-apparatus, is photographically crude, but is clearly demonstrates an advance on all previous efforts in direct storeoscopy.

The scene is an ordinary back garden, and the two women who stroll down the path have a distinct appearance of solidity and roundness, technical terms that contain no unflattering allusion i

All the objects stand clear away from their surroundings, especially a large vase on a table, and the whole scene has depth. Those who attended a private demonstration of the film in London were impressed by the possibilities of the invention the secret of which is rigidly guarded though it is understood that a process of double exposure calling for considerable technica skill, is involved.

The device does not call for any alteration in existing film stock and projectors, only for a mechanical alteration in the photographic camera. A full test The frock is quite straight of of the invention is to be made, with a better camera, under proper conditions.

The stereoscopic film wil revolutionise cinematography, is because it will create the illusion absoluto life. Mr. G. K. Spoor, the cinema pioneer, also has a practical stereoscopic invention which is about to be demonstrated in America.

Mr. Spoor's process calls for a complete revision of cinematography, as the film that he uses is twice the size of the ordinary film, being intended, when projected, to fill the entire proscenium opening, which averages forty feet in width.

Meantime, credit for being first in the field must be given to the young Leicester chemist.

Here we have the latest thing in sports—sea-going golf. It is now being played down in Florida and is said to be a most interesting pastime. The game is played from a boat and the ball spends its time in the water, being lifted from one wave to another with an ordinary golf club. Cups are located at various intervals and it is necessary to putt on the "blue" to sink the pellet, the same rules applying as in the actual game.
